

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, Nov. 18.—That independent telephone men have made Ohio the best developed telephone state in the Union was the statement of Frank L. Beam, president of the Ohio Independent Telephone Association before 400 representatives of two hundred independent companies from all parts of the state, attending the twentieth annual convention of the association here today.

Mr. Beam lauded the work of the state utilities commission in the telephone field. He said that the commission had recognized the fairness of a reasonable return on invested capital and had protected capital from useless competition which in past years had existed at the expense of the general public.

The principal speakers at the sessions today were Samuel G. McMeen of Columbus, president of the Ohio State Telephone company; C. Y. McVey of Cleveland; D. J. Cable of Lima; H. P. Folsom of Circleville, J. D. McGiffert, chairman of the state tax commission; Wallace D. Yaple, chairman of the state industrial commission, and LeRoy Parker and G. R. Johnston of Columbus.

The convention will close its sessions here tomorrow.

Tentative valuations of the Cleveland Telephone company, and the Lima Telephone company, were announced by the public utilities commission today. The valuations were sought in both cities by councils on the claims that the telephone rates were too high.

Figures set for the Cleveland Telephone company are as follows: Reproductive valuation—Company's estimate $8,693,726; commission's estimate, $4,403,727; difference $1,238,651.

Present valuation—Company's estimate $8,238,846; commission's estimate, $6,924,106; difference, $1,314,757.

For the Lima Telephone and Telegraph company, figures are: Reproductive valuation—Company's estimate, $904,727; commission's estimate, $818,651; difference, $86,076.

Present valuation—Company's estimate, $770,640; commission's estimate, $770,640.

WILSON OFFERED
FULL D. A. R. STRENGTH
FOR DEFENSE PROGRAM
 (Associated Press Telegram)
 Washington, Nov. 18.—President Wilson will be offered the services of the entire membership of the Daughters of the American Revolution to aid in the cause of national defense in any way he should see fit. Resolutions delegating Mrs. William Cumming Story, president general to wait upon the president tomorrow and proffer the co-operation of the 118,000 members and endorsing the movement for national defense were adopted at the regular monthly meeting yesterday of the national board of management of the organization.

$100,000,000 a year by the bee-weevil. Why? Because the quail, the prairie chickens, the meadow larks and other birds which were formerly there in millions, have been swept away by thoughtless men and boys.
"The chinch bug costs wheat growers another $100,000,000," I said, "and the Hessian fly $200,000,000.
It takes more than 24,000 chinch bugs to weigh an ounce and nearly 50,000 Hessian flies to weigh the same," continued the speaker.
"A quail killed by an expert
Ohio had in its crop 1200 chin-ch bugs. Another killed in a Kansas wheatfield had 2000 Hessian flies."
Colonel Shields added that not only growers pay $17,000,000 a year for spraying poisons, and remarking that a quail slain in Pennsylvania had 127 potato bugs in its crop. I said that Mrs. Margaret M. Nice, of the faculty of Massachusetts
State University after long study, reported that a quail destroyed 75.0
bugs and 6,000,000 weed seeds a year.

New York, Nov. 18.—Mayors of about forty cities, from Maine to California, have followed the example of Mayor Mitchell of this city, and have appointed committees to co-operate in national defense preparation.

Among the cities whose executives have taken such action are: Huntington, W. Va., Wheeling, W. Va., Ashland, Ky., and Lafayette, Ind.

Secretaries of branches of the National Security League, in congratulating Mayor Mitchell on the appointment of his committee, suggested a conference of the committees in a centrally located city. George W. Young, of Joliet, Ills., suggested that the meeting be held in Detroit, Mich.

London, Nov. 18.—Baron Ribbontrop said in the house of lords today in addressing a question to the Marquis of Lansdowne, that he understood Lieutenant General Sir Charles Monro, commander of the British expedition at the Dardanelles had reported in favor of the withdrawal of the British army at the Dardanelles.

The Marquis of Lansdowne denounced the government asked E. A. B. Kitchenor to visit the eastern Mediterranean because in his opinion, the report of Sir Charles Monro and the evidence accompanying did not appear sufficient to enable the government to come to a conclusion upon great questions of policy involving the life of the empire.

Official announcement was made that the fifty-second division successfully attacked the Turkish position at the Krithi-Nullah, near the tip of the peninsula. It captured 160 yards of trenches to the east of the defile 120 yards to the west.

OPTIMISTIC

POLITICAL OUTLOOK FOR G. O. P. HERRICK PUTS BEFORE HAMILTON CLUB

Cleveland Says America Is for Republicans and Democrats as Dominant Parties.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Causes that led to the split within the ranks of the Republican party have, in a large part, vanished and the forces are to be reunited, Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France told members of the Hamilton Club in an address today. The Republican party has become progressive, Mr. Herrick said, and through the willingness of each party to go half way in effecting a compromise, many Progressives have returned to their former allegiance.

"This is a two-party country," he said. "It has never had, and I presume never will have these multiple divisions by which the citizenship of some other nations are split. Between the two wings of our party there is no difference as to the route, or direction, but only as to the speed limit."

"There is no advantage in a three-sided contest, which opens the way for tricks and trades. Any man can make his influence felt in any party, but he cannot translate it into an active force for good laws and good government unless that party is powerful enough to put its policies into effect."

"Republicans and Progressives have been patriotically inspired to forget the past and to join their energies for the better service of their country."

PROVEN SWAMP-ROOT AIDS WEAK KIDNEYS

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which soon heals and strengthens the kidneys is a splendid kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store, and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish to first test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Newark Daily Advocate.

Earning Money

It is much easier than saving it. Almost every one EARNs money, but only about one in nine has a savings account.

And we cannot emphasize too much that ONLY WHAT YOU SAVE REALLY COUNTS toward your permanent independence.

Money saved and deposited here where it is completely safeguarded against loss holds a very real value and strengthens your future as nothing else can.

May we urge you to plan on accumulating a surplus reserve here?

You can deposit or withdraw money by mail.

THE HOME BUILDING ASSOCIATION COMPANY OF NEWARK, OHIO

NEW HOME OF NEWARK Y. W. C. A. WAS MADE NECESSARY BY ITS RAPID GROWTH

When the band of women who mothered the Y. W. C. A. in its infancy opened the doors of the Robinson building in Church street to the girls, they felt that they were in very commodious quarters. In one year the Association outgrew its home, and sought the Fitzgibbon house on North Fourth street. The amiable proprietor made extensive repairs, adapted them to the obvious needs of the Association, and again the board of directors felt that there was room for expansion and growth.

The third story was furnished upon demand—one room at a time, and largely through gifts of friends.

Mrs. John Braddock and Mrs. F. M. Howard each completely furnished one room. The Sylvia Bible class of the Second Presbyterian church, from the beginning had given the equipment for the guest room. They transferred their allegiance to the "Y." from the old to the new home, increased furnishings and comfort, and still keep an oversight over the Sylvia room. This guest chamber has offered much comfort to transient women, and is a source of refuge to the Association.

The residence home is now teeming with girl life, and is taxed to the utmost capacity. Every room being taken, while a waiting list shows forth the names of girls who want to get into this Christian home.

The cafeteria with a line of girls from the nearby cigar factories, at the rear door, and a line of business women and girls waiting in the lunch room to be served, is a very busy place at the noon hour.

With the advent of the industrial clubs of girls from the factories of the town, into the Y. W. C. A., the gymnasium is congested. On Monday nights when these girls come to the building for "their night," though they are divided into two classes, the quarters are close.

With this showing of growth it is obvious that the Y. W. C. A. has fulfilled its promise of three years ago, that it has demonstrated its right to support from a thinking, benevolent public; it has during that time mothered 137 members; has had 75 girls in the boarding home; 117 transients; 34,857 in cafeteria; 1669 at the little social affairs; 477 in summer camp; 1749 on Sunday afternoon in the Association building; it mothered 135 girls in industrial clubs, and has had 491 enrolled in educational classes.

A corp of 128 volunteer workers have assisted the general secretary; it is largely because of the work which these good women and girls have given that the Y. W. C. A. has prospered and filled a long needed want in Newark. But because of its growth, more and more voluntary workers are needed—the campaign is to be launched next Monday night in the meantime the preliminary work needs co-workers. Mrs. W. C. Miller, 472 Hudson avenue, and Mrs. George E. Dickup, 482 Hudson avenue, are the leaders in the campaign and they make an urgent appeal to Christian fathers and mothers of this city, and to the daughters who come from its sheltered homes, for help at this time, and willing service to be given hereafter. Telephone one of the leaders or leave word at the Association building and your offer of service will be deeply appreciated.

There have been 83 emergency cases cared for free at the Y. W. C. A. One old lady who came into the town to sell her wares, stranded, hopeless and hungry at nightfall, was about to appeal to the city prison for shelter when a friend of the Association brought her to the "Y." where she was cared for; her gratitude, the recording angel must have noted.

Several cases of eloping girls were succored, brought to a state of penitence and sent to their homes. Two girls from Pittsburgh who had joined a traveling show, dreaming that fame and fortune awaited them, friendless and penniless, were rescued from evil ways and from false visions of life, and sent home in a penitent state. The general secretary bought their tickets and put the girls on the train.

A little girl only 11 years of age was brought to the shelter of the Y. W. C. A. in a sobbing, hysterical state. In traveling she had been separated from her sister. Soon the friendliness of the "girls" reduced her tears to smiles, her sobs to laughter, and she was happy for the three days which elapsed before her worried relatives could be located.

These are specimens of the emergency cases which the Y. W. C. A. has cared for. Its declared purpose is to associate young women in personal loyalty to Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord; to promote growth in Christian character and service through physical, social, mental and spiritual training; to become a social force for the extension of the Kingdom of God.

Its motto is—"The best we can for business, home and community."

TREASURER CLEWS ISSUES A CALL FOR THE BELGIANS

Editor of The Advocate:—In answer to enquiries from readers, permit me to state that the Dollar Christmas Fund for Destitute Belgians will remain open until the end of December and that all donations entrusted to me as Treasurer of Henry Clews and Co., Broad St., New York will be most gratefully acknowledged.

There are probably many people who might like to associate the season of Thanksgiving this year with the relief of Belgian victims of war for whom the Dollar Christmas Fund for the second year makes a special appeal.

America has been spared the horrors of war; we have been greatly blessed, and to quote the words of our president in this Thanksgiving Proclamation last year "It has been vouchsafed to us in part to SUCCOR THE SUFFERING."

To those who have not yet given I make a very earnest appeal to send a donation to aid the old men, the frail women and the orphans of war in stricken Belgium. No man's Thanksgiving or Christmas this year will be less happy because he has remembered to help those who are too poor to help themselves.

Contributions to date are not so numerous as last year and the need is EVEN GREATER.

This is the last call from the Dollar Christmas Fund before Thanksgiving. Do not pass it by. Yours very truly, HENRY CLEWS.

REPORT FROM EUROPEAN BATTLE FIELDS TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY NIGHT.

Dr. E. A. Hamilton, Columbus Surgeon to Address Licking County Surgeons at Luncheon.

Newark and Licking county physicians and surgeons will have an opportunity to hear an uncensored report of conditions on European battlefields, which will consist of personal experiences of Dr. E. A. Hamilton of Columbus. Dr. Hamilton has only recently returned from six months' service in the German Red Cross. He has spoken several times to Columbus audiences and has not hesitated to tell the truth. His deductions after studying conditions abroad are interesting and are not subjected to the blue pencil of the censors.

Invitations have been mailed all physicians and surgeons in the county advising them of the special meeting which will be held at Hotel Warden. A buffet luncheon will be served. The meeting is under the auspices of the Licking County Medical society.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Advice of This Newark Woman is of Certain Value.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains.

Often times 'tis the kidneys' fault. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Newark women know this. Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. J. C. McVicker, 176 E. Main St., Newark, says: "My back bothered me constantly and I was so tired that I often had to lie down and rest. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and bothered me. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills greatly benefited me, and after that I could do my housework as well as ever and I didn't suffer from kidney disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills made a lasting cure." YOUNG WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE BY MOTHER; MARRIED IN NEWARK

Married when she was 15 years of age to a man who was less than 21, Mabel M. Ely, now aged 17, through her mother, Mrs. Emma Jasper, filed suit yesterday for the annulment of her marriage to Harry H. Ely, son of Alfred Ely, 31 Woodrow avenue.

The young wife, through her attorney, J. S. Monnett, says that two years ago Ely deceived her to Newark, and that he fraudulently represented himself and herself as being of age and residents of Licking County. A Rev. Mr. Sparks of Newark performed the marriage ceremony.

Mrs. Ely asks restoration of her maiden name, Mabel M. Mason.

NEWARK TO GET NEXT MEETING OF POCAHONTAS

Zanesville, O., Nov. 18.—The selection of Newark as the next district meeting place and the election of officers for the ensuing year were among the features of the fifth district school of District 5, Daughters of Pocahontas of Ohio here Wednesday. The school was largely attended, delegates being present from each of the 14 councils in southeastern Ohio. The business session was conducted by Maggie K. Wise of Dayton, Great Pocahontas of Ohio, and the address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Anna Franck of Washelle council of Zanesville.

Degrees work was exemplified by the Roseville council and the staff was highly complimented by the Great Pocahontas for its thoroughness in carrying out the work. The district officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows: District chief, Mrs. Jennie Bucy, Newark; district prophetess, Miss Agnes Sherard, Pleasant City; district Wenonah, Miss Mya Davis, Bylesville; district Powhattan, Miss Maude Weaver, Crooksville; district keeper of records, Miss Rebecca Kimball, Cambridge; district keeper of Wampum, Mrs. Kate John, Newark.

Nine out of ten persons have this dread disease

Pyorrhea—the most general disease in the world—is the disease you should be guarding your teeth against. It is caused by a germ which is found in every human mouth.

Thousands have already lost some or all of their teeth from this disease; in thousands it has reached the stage of bleeding gums and loose teeth; in thousands of others the germ, unsuspected, is just starting its work of destruction. Start today to guard your teeth from the dread results of this disease by using a corrective and preventive treatment in your daily toilet.

To meet the need for such a treatment and to enable everyone to take the necessary precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before the public in the convenient form of Senreco Tooth Paste.

Senreco contains the best corrective and preventive for pyorrhea known to dental science. Used daily it will successfully protect your teeth from this disease. Senreco also contains the best harmless agent for keeping the teeth clean and white. It has a refreshing flavor and leaves a wholesomely clean, cool and pleasant taste in the mouth.

Start the Senreco treatment tonight—full details in the folder wrapped around every tube. Symptoms described. A 25c two oz. tube is sufficient for six or eight weeks of the pyorrhea treatment. Get Senreco at your druggists today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Senreco Remedies Co., 503 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

ESTABLISHED IN 1820

Entered as Second Class Matter March 10, 1882, at the Postoffice at Newark, Ohio, under Act of March 4, 1879.

Many people feel that the proposed army of 500,000 men won't cost anything, as it will put so much money in circulation for supplies.

The college sophomores don't bother the freshmen any longer, as it takes all their time to haze the professors.

In case war was suddenly declared against this country, our government would gloriously rise to the occasion by ordering the necessary equipment for the soldiers to be delivered some time the next year.

After spending half an hour figuring how much they would have made by buying war stocks a year ago, some men complain because they haven't time enough to look after the details of their business.

The Harvest Season.

To the dweller in cities, the meaning of harvest time in the rural districts is not fully grasped. The reaping of a good crop of any staple is the climax of a great deal of hard work and the fruition of many hopes.

The farmer has fought his summer's battle against adverse powers of sunshine and rain, drought and storm, insect pests and human inefficiency. At times it has seemed as if these factors were too much for his feeble efforts. Yet by hard work and skilled experience he has pulled it through.

The life of the farmer is sometimes thought of as a placid even existence, untroubled by worry. Yet a crop representing thousands of dollars may be ruined in a day. It must sour many a sunny temperament to see hard work absolutely wasted.

Putting the crop under cover, safe from all these contending forces, is "some day" in the country. No one who has not played the game can realize the sense of quiet triumph and mastery with which the farmer views the work of his hands.

The Young Men and Their Clothes.

In looking over a trade report the other day, the statement was noticed that the "young men's clothing houses" were selling certain styles. This prompted the question, is there a distinctively young man's style of dress? Across the line of sex no such line appears. Elderly women frequently dress as if they were trying to call attention to fresh beauty. And young women who could afford to attract scrutiny frequently dress very simply.

In other orders of existence, it is quite common for the male to be decked out in fine plumage. The male bird is apt to wear brilliant feathers, while the female may be dull grey or brown.

The human male seems to have some longings for this display, and to part from it, at least during youth, with some regret. Up to the past century, men's dress clothes were of the most gorgeous rainbow hues. In some branches of sport like hunting and golf, red and green are still more or less popular.

The dominant feeling among mature men favors inconspicuousness of clothes. This holds down formal dress to plain and severe black. In business life startling checks and plaids are condemned as "loud" and offensive. There are many young men, however, who apparently dislike to be held down by these rulings. Seemingly they would like to array themselves in purple and fine linen, to be physically resplendent to the other sex.

And so it comes about that men's dress originates many novelties every year. They are not very pronounced, but they are there.

But men's dress is so nearly alike that any variation is noticeable. The clothing maker who would sell to youth must stock up on these changes. Young men dislike to follow too much the beaten path. They cherish their own individuality, and seem to prefer something that emphasizes it, and gives them some mark of distinction from their fellows.

Republicans Protest.

Republicans over the state are rising in their mighty strength to protest against the slate making which took place in Columbus last week by the self-constituted beneficiaries. They want to know by what right and by what authority it was arranged that the candidacies should be Burton for president, Willis for governor and Daugherty for senator.

And they want to know just why the "Big Four" should be a limited corporation.

Now do not rely alone on Democratic authority for this protest—just listen to the Republicans you know. And know that it is not Democratic authority which tells of the slate making. Republicans themselves boast of it. Chairman Edwin A. Jones protested it. The Columbus Monitor, Willis' pet organ, heralded its glee in rhyme: "Burton for president, Willis for governor, Daugherty for senator. Three in a row. Away we go." Then Charles Knight of Akron, a central committeeman, rose in his ire and tore to shreds the entire fabric. He likens the deal to the palmy doings of Mark Hanna and George B. Cox, and he says a lot meaner things about it than any Democrat could think.

Retail Trade and Community Progress.

Do people who buy away from home stop to think how retail trade lies at the foundation of our prosperity?

A very large share of the taxes of community is paid by the retail merchants or their employees. Many of the employees may pay no direct taxes, but they rent houses on which taxes are paid. If the home stores didn't employ these people, the houses would stand empty, or more likely would never have been built.

If every one would make it a point to buy goods whenever possible in the home town, our merchants would increase their business and pay more taxes. This would make possible more public improvements, a lower tax rate or both.

If we all got the "Buy away from home" fever, some of our merchants would have to quit, while others would have to reduce their stocks, and turn off part of their help. Many houses would be vacant. Taxable property would fall off, and strict municipal economy would be necessary. It would hurt every public service supported out of taxes.

When you send money out of town, you help pay taxes and secure public improvements somewhere else. Better keep it at home to get our own public improvements with. Sending money away is killing the goose that lays the golden egg. While we are reaching out for pennies we think we are saving, we are subtracting the dollars that build up home prosperity and on which our public well being depends.

The success of retail trade is essential to the town's advancement in all lines of progress. If the merchants and their employees are doing well, they contribute freely to churches, lodges, charities, and all philanthropies. Taking money away from the home trade currents is taking it away from all these interests, so vital to the advancement of the

The Geographical Issue.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
The Ohio Democratic congressman who has taken it upon himself to defeat the administration's national defense program at the coming session lugs in the geographical issue. He puts the blame for the preparedness cry on New Jersey. "Nowhere on this continent," he declares, "is any shore line so much exposed to the navy of an enemy as New Jersey. And nowhere on this continent has the so-called defensive program been so thoroughly advertised and exploited as in New Jersey."

But this geographical sword is two-edged. Unless its handle is grasped firmly it may cut into the arguments of its wielder. Ohio is safely removed from the reach of any hostile navy's guns. Not a single constituent of the Congressman would be harmed by an enemy's fire from the sea. Even were a hostile army to land on American soil it would in all probability have to cross a number of other States before it reached Ohio. Therefore—Ohio need not concern itself with plans for a more adequate national defense.

It is an argument as false as it is mischievous. Fortunately, this member of the House does not represent the sentiment of Ohio. One questions whether he represents any considerable proportion of the people of his own district. The issue of geography has nothing to do with American preparedness, except so far as geography has set the United States apart from the rest of the world, and to some extent simplified her problem of defense. Among the States no sound Americanism will admit of distinctions.

Ohio is just as much interested in an adequate defense as New Jersey. An invasion of New York would be a disaster to Kansas. The truth is self-evident.

Had this un-American Ohio lived at the end of the Revolutionary War, his counsel, judging by his present attitude, would have been against a continued union of States and in favor of 13 separate, small independent governments—each devoted to its special interests, indifferent to the perils and fate of the other 12. The absurdity is no greater than the Congressman's present argument against preparedness.

Europe Still Buying U. S. Horses.

(Washington Post.)
"Europe is not through buying horses from the United States for war purposes, but the belligerent nations will have to take a class of animals inferior to those they bought in the beginning," remarked Morris B. Wooden, a stockman of Portland, Ore., at the Raleigh. "At the start the agents of these foreign governments were very discriminating in their choice, taking only the best, but in the last three or four months they have not been so concerned as to the quality. The farmers of the Northwest now quote their own prices on their stock, and they are not anxious to sell. Many of them have some sentimental scruples about furnishing fodder for the big guns and the shrapnel of the two great contending forces."

"This demand for American horses has developed that the Western horse is better adapted for army service than the Eastern horse or that of the South or Southwest. The Western animals stand the test better, are sounder, have better wind and ship better than the Easterner. And this is a very important consideration. Hundreds of horses die on their feet on board ship. One marked superiority of the Western animals is in the soundness of the feet. This probably is one of the most necessary qualities in a horse for army service. As yet the export of American animals to Europe has not decreased the supply so that Americans feel any shortage. There are millions of first-class horses still left. It isn't surprising that many of our horsemen hesitate to sell their stock when they are confronted with the knowledge that the animals after they reach the front will not last on average longer than two weeks."

Ben Franklin's Pacifism.

(New York Times.)
Lecturing at Lowell Institute in Boston on Jonathan Edwards and Benjamin Franklin, Professor William Lyons Phelps of Yale University, The Boston Transcript tells us, "presented Franklin as a pacifist. He went further and called him a lover of peace at any price, one of the few men who were truly civilized."

Pacifist Franklin was very energetic in the 1740's in providing for defenses against an expected invasion by the French and Spanish. He helped to get a loan in Philadelphia to New England for the French war. Postmaster General of the Colonies, he did a great deal for Braddock's expedition, procuring him supplies from the farmers, even dipping into his own purse. After Braddock's defeat, Franklin, says the American Cyclopaedia, "was the means of establishing a volunteer militia, and took the field as a military commander. After a laborious campaign it was proposed to commission Franklin as General in command of a distant expedition; but he distrusted his military capacities and waived the proposal." Modest, but military.

Of what he did as commissioner and Minister Plenipotentiary to France, how he got men, money, the alliance aided that eminent pacifist, John Paul Jones, surely there is no need to speak. Has Professor Phelps been misquoted, or is here another case to stir the inquiry: "What shall we do with our professors?"

Spirit of the Press

A man was referred to as one who in his conversation never says "I think" so and so. The "think" is a mere expletive. A positive, clear-headed man says what he thinks, without saying he thinks. Besides, when a person premises with an "I think" it weakens his assertion, because thinking is by no means an assurance of truth. If one should say "I think it will rain tomorrow," the very expression carries a doubt, because more opinion is a lame matter, and the world is chock full of opinions. If, however, he should say: "It will rain tomorrow," it carries some assurance, even if it is, after all, an opinion. So the man referred to in the first place doesn't say "I think," for it is entirely superfluous, and he adds force and dignity to what he says in omitting it entirely. And then when one looks at the situation calmly, he will conclude that think is much under a cloud, since very few people think exactly alike. There are ten thousand instances of this character.—Ohio State Journal.

Somehow or other the man who is industrious and who attends to his own business never does much indignating about John D. Rockefeller's wealth. When you have to put on a "sub," never select a man who can do your work better than you can. If father ever got up in the morning and didn't have to pull a handful of mother's hair out of the comb when he was dressing, he would know that he was dreaming and was still sound asleep.

You can't scare a man by telling him that there are snakes in whisky. He knows that there are no microbes in booze, and he isn't afraid of anything that he can see.

A man's idea of a deep problem is to have a pair and four hearts and be undecided as to whether to hold the pair or bust it and draw to a flush. Any time Gladys and Myrtle and Mayme get together and try on one another's shoes, each makes the discovery that the shoes worn by the other two are much too large for her.

There wouldn't be much worrying done in this world if our troubles didn't bother us any more than they do our friends.

The White Carnation Sewing club will meet Friday afternoon at Mrs. Andrews, 401 South Second street.

The first meeting of the Kensington Club will be held this evening at the home of Miss Alice McMahon in Bowers avenue.

Mrs. R. H. Jones entertained the members of the Colonial Sewing club on Wednesday afternoon at her home in Fifth street. The hours were devoted to sewing and an appetizing luncheon was served. The guests of the club were Mrs. Metz, Mrs. Ray Wolford and Mrs. Frank Agnew.

Mrs. Clark B. Hatch was hostess to the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club on the club day entertaining at the home of Mrs. Dowden in Hudson avenue. The game consisted with the prize awards being made to Mrs. Malcolm Baker and Mrs. Robbins Hunter. The only guest of the club was Mrs. Leon Weston, of Withrow, Wash.

The members of the Progressive club were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Edward S. Miller in Hudson avenue on the club day and the following program was taken from the calendar:

"Descend, ye Nine, descend and sing: Wake into voice each silent string" The Wire . . . Mrs. J. Rollin Sook Canterbury Weavers . . . Miss Mary Owen Mechanical Music . . . Illustrated . . . Miss Ruth Zentmyer . . . Guests of the club were: Mrs. T. M. Edmiston, Mrs. W. D. Fulton, Mrs. Clifford Sturgeon, Mrs. A. H. Rickett, Mrs. Frank Hall, Mrs. Vance Bay and Mrs. Dean of Rochester, N. Y.

The members of the Social Entertainment Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Robert Lytle at her home in Ninth street on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was called to order at the usual time. Sewing and contests were the amusements of the afternoon. Mrs. Harry Rainey and Mrs. Wm. Shamp received the contest prizes and Mrs. Arthur Priest the guests prize. The members were invited to the dining room where a dainty two course luncheon was served by the hostess. Mrs. Arthur Priest, Mrs. John Deardoff, Mrs. Chas. Blohorn and Mrs. Harry Geidenberg were guests of the club. Mrs. Arthur Cornell will entertain Dec. 10th at 57 North Buena Vista street.

Miss Mayme Hiepley delightfully entertained the members of the Wednesday Evening Euchre Club at her home in West Church street on the club night. A six o'clock dinner of pretty appointments was served, the tables being centered with a basket of pink chrysanthemums, and the candles were shaded with pink canopies. In the euchre game the souvenirs were awarded to Miss May Kammerer and Miss Marguerite Ganev. The guest of the club was Mrs. Walter Daugherty. The next hostess will be Miss Genevieve Katos, who will entertain at her home in North Fourth street.

Miss Joanna Brown delightfully entertained at her beautiful home in Granville Road Wednesday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Mabel Baker whose marriage to Mr. Herbert Nell will be an event of late November.

The house was artistically decorated in red hearts, red festoons and cut flowers, and the bride to be was showered with many pretty and useful gifts.

The hostess and her assistants served a dainty luncheon to the following ladies: Mesdames Berry, Bishop, W. A. Hiatt, N. E. Pyley, James Crisswell, Wm. Boner, Harry Cross, John Sabold, H. D. Bartholomew, Mary Harrington, C. U. Stevens, C. R. Hartshorne, C. E. Davis, Frank Heimke, Arthur Taylor, E. H. Frame, A. J. Farrer and son Frederick, B. B. Hughes, Martha Jewell, C. H. Still, Willis Fulton, C. M. Brown and Misses Mabel Baker, Bertha Stevens, Maude Sanford, Julia Boner, Daisy Harrington, Rita Lundy, Morna Stevens, Martha Hartshorne, Lucile Brown, Jessie Bartholomew, Lois Brown, Edna Hughes and the hostess.

The Elks Social Club will entertain with the first dance of the winter series this evening at Assembly hall. It will be a dinner dance, a turkey dinner being served.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Knights of St. John entertained with a most successful card party on Wednesday evening in the Knights of Columbus club rooms in West Main street. Thirty tables were necessary to accommodate the players and euchre was the game.

A very pretty juvenile party was given on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. James Gallagher at her home in Central avenue, honoring the eleventh birthday anniversary of her daughter, Susie Shields Gallagher. The afternoon hours were devoted to games, Blanch Gruber winning the souvenirs in the bean guessing contest, Anna Wynne being the fortunate contestant in the peanut contest, and Isabelle Ewing receiving the award in the donkey game. The dinner appointments were in pink and white and were unusually attractive. The table was centered with the birthday cake of pink, on which were eleven lighted pink tapers. The place cards were caught with pink ribbons which extended to the center of the table and on which were found the attractive little favors. The guests were Anna Haynes, Isabelle Ewing, Blanch Gruber, Mary Alice Murphy, Florence and Frances Verhey, Angela and Eva Stare, Dorothy Loar, Margaret Stapleton, Mary Elizabeth Deardoff, Zulene Rogers, Katherine Gorius, Martha Kear and Katherine Locker.

Exema Caused Years of Intense Agony

"I have suffered intense agony from Exema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only one month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of Exema or itching. You can refer to me—Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield St., Buffalo, N. Y.

I've got a hundred testimonials, says Peterson, just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made up my mind to give a big box for 25 cents, and I'm still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows.

I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who buys a box that it is rigidly guaranteed for Exema, Salt Rheum, Old Sores, Blind Bleeding and Itching Piles, Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Chafing, Burns, Scalds and Sunburn, and if not satisfied, any druggist will return your money.

Obituary

Mrs. Lillie E. Walters.

At 9:45 Wednesday morning, Mrs. Lillie E. Walters, wife of W. M. Walters of this city was called to her home after an illness of a few months duration. She had gone to the City Hospital for an operation where death occurred.

Lillie E. Good was born in Lickington Township, November 6, 1878, where she spent most of her childhood days. She was united in marriage to W. M. Walters, December 17, 1896. To this union were born two sons, Ernest and Earl, who together with the husband are left at the home to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother.

Besides the home circle Mrs. Walters leaves her mother, Mrs. Barbara Good, and one brother Alva Good at their old home. She also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Huffman, Mrs. Wm. Grandie, and Mrs. Goldie Wallace of this city, and one brother, Chas. Good of Hebron, Ohio.

To have known Mrs. Walters was to love her. She was a woman of sterling character and lived the real Christian life. The influence of her unselfish example will long be felt and missed among her many friends. She united with the United Brethren church at Jacksontown, O., when a very young girl and has ever since been an active worker in the church. She moved to Newark about 14 years ago and is now a member of the Tenth Street United Brethren church of this city. She was one of the charter members of this church and has done much to help build it where she will be greatly missed. She leaves besides the family named above, a great host of friends.

The funeral services will be held at the home, 187 Maholm street, Friday afternoon at 1:30 conducted by Rev. M. R. White, pastor of the Tenth Street U. B. church. Interment at Cedar Hill cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and for the beautiful floral offerings during the sickness and death of our beloved mother. Also Rev. W. D. Walters for his words of kindness and consolation, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester M. Bradley for their kindness.—Florence, Edward and William Targett. 18-1*

Granville

(Special to the Advocate.)

Granville, Nov. 18.—The handsome new home of Prof. and Mrs. C. D. Coons in East Broadway, which has been in the hands of carpenters and decorators since its purchase last summer, was thrown open for the first time Wednesday afternoon, November 17, in welcome to the Granville Women's Music club, of which Mrs. Coons is secretary. As this is to be permanent headquarters for the club during the ensuing year, much pleasure and appreciation were expressed by the members to the gracious hostess. The president, Mrs. W. P. Ullman was in the chair, and roll call showed most of the members present. Mrs. C. B. White, as leader, presented what she claimed was not a program in the ordinary sense, but which appears on the Year Book as "Our Country's Folk Music." Illustrated with Amerino, Afro-American, Creole and Hawaiian songs, Mrs. White, with her customary thoroughness, went back to the first principals and the illustrations she furnished were simple and primitive—some of them mere themes which await the future composer's development, into a magnificent field of American music. These themes were given by a sextette composed of Mrs. Fred Seymour, Mrs. Rohrer, Mrs. Ullman, Mrs. Eschman, Mrs. Stickney and Mrs. J. D. Thompson each of whom sang, as requested, some air or theme, in addition to their ensemble work. To give variety, several selections were given on the Victrola, kindly loaned for the occasion by Sigma Chi fraternity, in which the weirdness of the Indian war dance was brought out. This unusual program was interesting, enjoyable, and instructive, as only Mrs. White could have made it.

During the social hour which followed, tea was served by Mrs. Ogilvie, Mrs. Loveless, and Mrs. Strong, and the members greeted the afternoon's guests: Mrs. Sachs of Newark; Mrs. Newton Brumback of Colorado Springs; Mrs. Frank Withoff of Fort Valley, Georgia; Mrs. Harry Howe, Mrs. W. E. Clemons, Miss Amelia Bancroft and Miss Elizabeth Ewart.

The year book, most attractively and artistically printed on egg shell paper, and showing the program for each meeting of the year, made its first appearance and won many favorable comments for its completeness, from both the technical and the musical viewpoints. It is a credit to the program committee: Mrs. J. S. Jones, chairman; Mrs. T. S. Johnson, and the president, Mrs. W. P. Ullman.

The Granville chapter of The King's Daughters, which for years has been one of the most active agencies for good in the place, having found that their scope of usefulness had broadened, and their membership increased amazingly during the past two years, have been obliged to rent headquarters which will accommodate all those who desire to work in this way. The room in Linden Plats supplies this growing need as no private house in the village is able to do—and now all friends of the organization who wish to help the "Daughters" by the loan of a hot plate, oven, gas range or like commodity, are requested to communicate with Mrs. F. F. Robinson, phone 66. These conveniences should be installed as soon as possible if they are to be of use in the great bazaar soon to be held.

At three o'clock this afternoon Mrs. Willis Arden Chamberlin entertained a company of twenty friends at a thimble party charmingly planned for the pleasure of Mrs. Newton Brumback of Colorado Springs, and Mrs. Charles J. Herrick of Chicago, who have been visiting relatives and old friends in Granville for the past fortnight. Several pleasing diversions were offered the guests, besides their own needlework. A "Musical Romance," with Mrs. Susan T. Bauden at the piano, furnished scope for the histrionic talents of the company and a guessing game further enlivened the wits of all present. Refreshments were served at the close of the entertainment.

Mrs. C. L. Herrick entertained last evening at her home in Burg street with a supper of delightful appointments in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Herrick of Chicago, and Mrs. Newton Brumback of Colorado Springs. Covers were laid for: Mrs. Susan T. Bauden, Mrs. Eugenia Finley, Mrs. Robert Beggs, Miss Lucille Powell, Miss Lizzybell Sefton, Miss Clara Davies of Newark, Mrs. Herrick, Mrs. Brumback, the hostess and her mother.

Mrs. George Walker of Cincinnati is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. FIRST DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, OR GAS ON STOMACH.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking Tonoline Tablets.

People with weak stomachs should take Tonoline Tablets occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, sour rising, gas or stomach, or belching of undigested food, headache, dizziness or sick stomach; and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking Tonoline Tablets.

Go to your druggist and get a $1 box of Tonoline Tablets and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. Tonoline tabs freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living. Tonoline Tablets cost $1.00 for a 15 days' treatment. For sale by Hall's drug store.

TO GIVE THE HAIR A NATURALLY WAVY EFFECT

Since the virtues of plain liquid silmerine as a hair curler became known, druggists in this country, as well as abroad, have been having a really extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. Its effectiveness and its entire harmlessness—especially as compared with the injurious curling iron—doubtless have been responsible for its increasing use for the purpose mentioned. A few ounces of liquid silmerine will last a long while.

One need only apply a little of the liquid with a clean tooth brush before retiring and in the morning the hair will have that beautiful wavy and glossy appearance of which bears no marks of artificiality. The best way is to divide the hair into strands and moisten each of them from root to tip. There is no discoloration, no streaky or other unpleasant after-effect.

Every Day Etiquette

"Should a young man, when riding with a lady in a street car, get up and give his seat to another lady?" queried Jack.

"Of course, it is proper for a man to get up and offer his seat to a lady whether or not he is with another lady," answered his father.

Iron Trade Review
Cleveland, Nov. 18.—The iron trade review for the week shows a general upward trend. Demand for pig iron continues very active throughout the country and prices are higher in leading centers, notably in Chicago and Cleveland. Some resale iron at $13 for No. 2, Birmingham, is the lowest to be had in the south.

The steel corporation during the past week has been very active in chartering vessel tonnage for the movement of iron ore for next season and it has been followed by independent companies, the contracts being made at an advance of 40c per ton over the 40c rate prevailing this year from the head of the lakes.

Prices of shades, plates and bars for anything like early delivery are considerably higher.

Wall Street
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
New York, Nov. 18.—A mixture of gains and losses marked today's irregular opening, but in most instances changes were only fractional. The notable exceptions, included United Fruit, Westinghouse and Studebaker, which rose 1 to 2 1/2% each. General Motors soon rose 1 1/2 to 4 1/2. Bethlehem Steel opened down a point but rallied five to 15 1/2. Steel manifested further selling pressure, although opening at a slight rise in two lots of 3,800 shares. Coppers were inclined to react but Anaconda and Copper Queen were higher. Erie gained a substantial fraction at 4 1/2, its best quotation for the current movement. Canadian Pacific and Rock Island were heavy.

Foreign selling caused general declines in the first hour, although rails were less affected than specialties. In fact, the strength of international shares including Union Pacific, Reading and Erie, helped to restore a measure of steadiness. Trading was less active than yesterday but embraced many issues. War shares averaged 1 to 2 point losses and Mercantile Marine preferred fell 3 to 6 1/2.

Prices shaded again in the dull final hour, with weakness in coppers and some specialties. Trading was irregular.

The strength of rails and reactionary trend of specialties were the conspicuous features of today's market.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—(Unsettled weather and the fact that receipts in the north-west were small today, to strengthen the price of wheat. Assertions that steamship rates to Great Britain had become a little easier helped also to some extent to encourage the bulls. On the other hand, lower quotations from Liverpool acted as a check on the buying here. After opening 1/8% off to 1/4% up, with December at 85 1/2, to 1 1/2% and May at 1.05% to 1.05%, the market scored moderate gains all around.

SPRINKLERS AGAIN SAVE A FACTORY
W. F. SEYMOUR GIVES BOND; IS RELEASED

For the second time in a few weeks the Rugs Hauling Factory was saved from probable destruction by fire through the prompt action of the sprinkling system installed two years ago. The blaze in a quantity of hemp was discovered at the noon hour and simultaneously with the discovery, the automatic sprinklers "let go," and the blaze was quickly brought under control, the work of extinguishing the blaze being finished by the fire department which responded to a telephone alarm which called all the fire apparatus in the city to the scene. It was the first alarm responded to by the new motor fire trucks installed Monday at headquarters station. The run was made in good time without mishap.

At the factory office it was stated that the fire probably originated in the same machine which caused the blaze a few weeks ago. The fire was located in the same part of the factory.

Officials of the company denied that there was any possibility that the blaze was of incendiary origin, and denied emphatically that any work orders are being filled at the factory. "We are making rope, and so far as we know, none of it is being shipped abroad though this might be the case."

Today's loss was nominal, prompt discovery of the blaze and the prompt action of the sprinkler system brought it quickly under control.

Dr. and Mrs. Priest accompanied her to Chicago, and Dr. J. P. H. Stedem and Dr. W. A. Funk of this city witnessed the operation. Word received today by the family stated that she was getting along very satisfactorily.

IN ATTENDANCE AT DEDICATION OF EAGLES' HOME

A number of local Eagles are in Zanesville today in attendance at the dedication of the new Eagles' home in that city, located in North Third street. A big parade is to be held this evening in which the New Yorkers will participate. Several bands have been engaged for the occasion including the Zanesville Concert and the "Rube" bands. The city regiment of fraternal societies, Eagle degrees team, officers, candidates and visitors will march in the big parade, which will move promptly at 7 o'clock. An elaborate Eagle float will be one of the features. An initiation will follow at the home and open house will be kept until midnight.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S COMIC CAPERS CHARLIE IS ON LAND AGAIN—WITH THE USUAL RESULTS

Has Faith in Remedy

Mrs. H. S. Carlson of Wakefield, Nehr., testifies to the relief she experienced from the use of Fruitola and Traxo:

"I used Fruitola and Traxo with very good results, having passed almost a cupful of gall-stones with the first bottle. My skin is clear now and I have a good appetite. I have lots of faith in Fruitola and Traxo."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the congested waste in an easy, natural manner. A single dose is usually sufficient to clearly indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a special did tonic-alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulating the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation.

For the convenience of the public, arrangements have been made to supply Fruitola and Traxo through representative druggists. In Newark they can be obtained at Evans' Drug Store, Warden Hotel Block.

THE WAY TO GOOD HEALTH

By J. D. Montgomery.

We eat because we are hungry—sometimes. At times we eat from habit, because it is time to eat. But why are we hungry? We hunger because the body tissues are in need of certain material for repairing or rebuilding, or possibly for building purposes. Any activity of the animal body results in destruction of its own tissue and the demand for something with which to repair the loss is called hunger. The kind of material needed for this frequent repair job is one of the perplexing problems of many lives. We all know well enough when hunger strikes us but we do not all know so well what to supply to hush the clamors of appetite.

The material needed is that particular kind that will replace the broken down tissue in the body. If it is muscular tissue that needs it we must eat something that the digestive process is able to convert into muscle. If it is nerve tissue that is under repair the hunger call will suggest material that can be utilized to repair nerve tissue. It would be disastrous, as indeed it often is, to interpret the call for material to repair muscular tissue and get only such matter as can be converted into bone tissue, for instance. How could this happen? By the custom of using such things as spices, pepper, salt, mustard, horse radish, etc., to whip up the appetite to receive whatever is given it without reference to the natural sense of food selection that is present when only simple and natural food is used. The sense of hunger is a sure and safe guide to proper and adequate food selection when it is not hidden beneath an avalanche of condiments. We come to the table actually craving some particular food substance, as potatoes, or beans, or fruit. But by the use of certain dopping of the food with condiments that sense of choice and selection is completely frustrated and we accept with great relish things that do not contain what the body was asking for at all. What is the consequence? Just this: The body tissue that was calling for material to rebuild itself remains unrepaired and un-nourished. Keep this up long enough and the result is a "spell of sickness." Nature must have her way with you even if she must put you in bed to get it.

The best "state of preparedness" of food material occurs under the influence of the sun's rays. Ripe fruits and nuts are already prepared for the action of the teeth and saliva. Other vegetable foods need cooking to burst the tiny globules of starch, of which they are made, that the digestive juices may have free access to the starchy material for the food. Some vegetables are taken raw, as celery, onions, radishes, and lettuce. Tomatoes are better raw when ripe, but may become an excellent winter tonic when canned. By far the most important work of preparing the food for body use occurs in the mouth. The act of chewing grinds the food thoroughly and "insalivates" it, mixes it with the saliva, the first process of digestion. This stage of the work of converting food into tissue has to do mainly with the starch, which is in this way converted into maltose, a form of digestible starch. If this work is not accomplished in the mouth it will be seriously delayed until it reaches the small intestines. Here the starch digestion is completed—if it can be completed. It is a dietetic sin to bolt the food without proper mastication and wash it down with scalding tea or coffee or ice water. Dietetic sins incur a penalty executed by nature in the form of indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headaches, malnutrition, etc., etc.

Do Take Time to Eat. Yes, there is time enough to eat properly if we will only do so. If, for instance, we should be in too great hurry to take sufficient time to eat a full meal then eat less, but eat properly, and more nourishment will be realized than if a large meal be ingested but not digested. The advice of Gladstone was to chew each mouthful thirty or forty times before swallowing. Dr. Fletcher, of Fletcherizing fame, advised that all food be chewed till it disappeared from the mouth. These men may have been extremists on food mastication, you say. Yes, but let me whisper in your ear that there are many people in Newark today, and you may be one of them, who could chew their way out of ill health and into "a normal condition of the body" if they would.

So it is up to you, my brother, to abandon your old habits of bolting your food hastily and washing it down with a beverage and learn anew to chew. That is, if you would find the way out of your bodily ailments.

RELIEVES THE WORST CASES OF CATARRH

Think "Hymel the Most Wonderful Treatment for Catarrh Ever Discovered."

Do not try to cure catarrh by using sprays or lotions; it cannot be cured in that manner. The only way in which this too common disease can be fully relieved is through a direct application to the affected parts that will kill the bacilli of catarrh and prevent their growth.

Breathing the air of Hymel is the only known method of treatment that can really accomplish this. It is the simplest, most pleasant and probably the most reliable treatment for catarrh that has ever been discovered.

Numerous unsolicited testimonials have been received from prominent men and women who have been helped by this remarkable remedy. Ministers, bankers, lawyers, even eminent physicians have given strong testimony as to the powers of Hymel.

The complete Hymel outfit is inexpensive and consists of an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hymel to last several weeks. This will effect instant relief in ordinary cases, but for chronic and deep-seated cases of catarrh, longer use may be necessary and then an extra bottle of Hymel can be obtained for a trifling sum. It is not alone the best (it might be called the only) method of treating catarrh, but it is also the most economical.

T. J. Evans has so much confidence in the power of Hymel to relieve catarrh, that he will for a limited time, sell this medicine under his personal guarantee to refund the money if the purchaser can say that it did not benefit.

JOHN MULLEN BUYS RIGHTS OF A NEW PATENT

John W. Mullen, known to all Newarkites as "Peanut John", has returned from an extensive trip through the South. He was engaged for the last several weeks in traveling over several states securing attractions for the Atlanta Fall Festival. Mr. Mullen has become quite well known in the amusement world and is seriously thinking of promoting a carnival company for next season.

During his travels Mr. Mullen came across a process for soldering which he considered an excellent article and Tuesday he closed a contract with a New York firm for the rights for three counties and he will demonstrate the new process at the new Market House Saturday. With it the housewife can do her own soldering without the use of tools, acids or irons.

ZANESVILLE TO ORGANIZE NEW DENISON CLUB

Zanesville, O., Nov. 18.—Plans are now being formed for the organization of a Zanesville Denison club to be composed of all of the former students of Denison University, Granville. The first meeting will probably be held during the Christmas holidays. According to the "Denisonian" Zanesville now ranks fourth among Ohio cities with reference to the number of students now enrolled at Denison and there are a large number of alumni located here.

Carl Weaver of Laurel avenue, was initiated into the Denison chapter of Phi Gamma Delta on last Saturday evening. He graduated from the Zanesville High school in the class of 1915.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

EVERY PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT.

DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR AND DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY AT ONCE.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine. Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.

WANAMAKER TO ADDRESS TRINITY CLUB

The Trinity Men's Club dinner at the parish house Friday night will be featured by an address by Judge R. M. Wannamaker of Akron, a Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court. Judge Wannamaker is a man of wide experience and reputation in legal matters and his talk will no doubt be of great interest to club members.

MARINE BAND'S LEADER PRAISES THE OLD GUARD

Newark's Old Guard was complimented warmly by Lieut. Sandleman, director of the Marine Band for its courtesy in acting as an escort for the band, Wednesday afternoon. "It was the best reception we have had since we left Washington," Lieut. Sandleman told Capt. Bausch after the band was escorted to the High School auditorium. "The Old Guard is a great organization," he continued, "and Newark should be proud of it."

Captain Bausch assembled his company early in the afternoon, marched to the High School auditorium, escorted the Marine Band on a short parade of the city's streets and back to the High school.

BRAVE DEFENSE OF BABUNA PASS BY SERBS, VAIN

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Athens, Nov. 17.—Via Paris, Nov. 18.—Five thousand serbs who have been defending Babuna Pass against the attacks of twenty thousand Bulgars have been forced to abandon their positions and are retreating on Priple, according to advices from Saloniki.

The Athenae's Saloniki correspondent confirms the re-occupation of Tetovo by the Bulgars, a victory regarded as of much importance because it may result in the cutting of lateral communications of the Serbian front.

A Character Sketch of

"Bob" Wolfe

A Blending of All of the Days of the Year Into One Day Typifies His Strong Personality.

BY GEORGE F. BURBA.

If I could take all of the days of the year and blend them into one day—the storms of March and the peaceful days of June, the biting frosts of winter and the blistering heat of summer—and describe the one day made of all days, then I might write a character sketch of "Bob" Wolfe, Columbus publisher and owner of two big newspapers.

But even then it would have to show in perspective a composite day of sunshine, the clouds bordering the frame only, for with "Bob" Wolfe it is sunshine always, however threatening the clouds that lower about his form and feature. He isn't as turbulent as he tries to make himself believe. He isn't as severe as others think him. He feels himself more than he fools anybody else, in holding out to the world a careless air, and I believe he does so to prevent his softer nature getting the better of him. He has to guard himself at all times, lest he throw his fortune to the winds and his business enterprises to his friends, and thus become a pauper.

The student of human nature would call him a positive character. He is either for you or against you—there can be no doubt about that. That is, he is willing either to fight for you or against you; he would never think of sitting on the fence when you were under discussion. One day I asked him about a certain man. "I wish he was big enough for me to hate," is the way he expressed it. "I don't like him," he said, "but he is too small to hate."

And then he went on and preached as pretty a sermon as I have ever heard preached. He said it was impossible for us to hate those whom we knew were our inferiors. We might have pity on them, or contempt, but we couldn't hate them properly. Besides, he went on to say, there is no use of hating a man of whom you are master; let the slave hate the master not the master the slave. And a lot more along the same line, convincing me before he had half finished that those who take him for a hater of anybody are very much mistaken. I have never heard anyone express greater Christian charity for all men than he there expressed—nor any man who displayed greater tenderness toward all.

"Bob" Wolfe has had a hard row to hoe, and in hoeing it he has chopped off a good many toes. That is why some people, who do not know him very well, have gotten it into their minds that he runs around hunting somebody he can oppose. The truth is that there isn't a man in the world who has come up through such adversities, by dint of his own efforts who would have remained as sweet and clean as "Bob" Wolfe.

"Bob" Wolfe left home when he was 9 years of age. Ran away because things didn't suit him. Tramped and beat his way to Washington, D. C., and thence to New York, and to Cuba, and to New Orleans and to the great southwest in the days when every man had to defend himself at all hours of the day and night. Then he beat it back to the middle west by the time he was well matured—and on to Columbus, where he went into the shoe business, and where he has since bought two great newspapers, and operates both of them successfully, just as he operates the shoe plant.

Buffeted by the rough people of the ships, riding the plains with the reckless cowboys of earlier days, eating where he could find food, and sleeping beneath the dome of heaven when occasion demanded, this rugged chap kept in touch with only one person—his mother. Always he found time to scrawl an awkward letter to the woman who had given him life. Out of his meager earnings, when he earned anything, he managed to send her a coin, or a precious bill, and with it ever went the love he bore her. There hangs today in the busy office which he occupies a single picture—that of the sainted mother whose heart was ever quickened by the thought that in whatsoever clime her boy might roam, there would be enshrined a sacred love for her. In figuring upon the success of this man let us not forget the influence which this love has wrought—a tenderness that abided with him in the roughest camps of outlaws or in the darkened holds of salty vessels. I do not know anything about the ways of heaven, nor the mysteries of the universe, but in dealing with men I have ever found that the fellow who cherished a sacred love for mother has feared not, nor wrought an injury to any man.

Nobody knows where he got his education, but he is educated. Nobody knows where he learned to write, but everybody about his offices knows that when he comes in and writes an editorial, as he does occasionally, here isn't going to be any doubt left in the mind of the reader what he was trying to say. He doesn't like to write, and will not write much, but some of the straight-from-the-arm thrusts that are quoted from one end of the country to the other are the products of this man's pen.

That may account for a part of his success, but it doesn't account for all of it. Attention to details would be a

"Bob" Wolfe wouldn't admit that he knew a detail if he met it in the road. He would probably tell you that he doesn't hunt for such small animals, and yet he never overlooks one anywhere, at any time. He invited about seventy-five guests to his summer home, on an island in Buckeye Lake, a short time ago. There was no reason to suppose the day would not be an ideal one for an outing. Yet he didn't overlook the detail of having a great canvas tent erected, under which dinner could be served in case it rained. But a lot of people would have thought of that detail. The one detail nobody else would have thought of, though, was providing a pair of rubbers for each guest, in the event it did rain—and that is exactly what he did. And it rained, and the rubbers saved many a fellow from contracting a cold.

This same gathering where he furnished rubbers to his guests was one of the most noted ones ever held in down there who was used to running a boat. He took boats and boatsmen to the city, and they saved hundreds and hundreds of lives. "Bob" Wolfe himself was in one of the boats and personally saved a number of people.

"Jimmie" Cox was then governor. He knew of the work being done by "Bob" Wolfe. One day after the flood he called Wolfe into his office, and presented him with a commission as commodore in the naval forces of Ohio—a title which he justly earned. There it was—engraved on a sheet of parchment—"Commodore Robert F. Wolfe"—and bearing the seal of the state of Ohio, an evidence of the esteem in which he was held, and a commendation of his splendid services to his home city.

When "Bob" Wolfe introduces you to a man it doesn't mean anything. That is, it is not evidence that the man is in any certain social set or occupies any certain station in life. He is the one man I have known in my newspaper experience who absolutely doesn't care what a man's social or political or financial standing happened to be at the time—the one man who is big enough not to be ashamed to be found talking to anybody on earth, and at the same time big enough to talk to the biggest. Talk about your democrats with a little "d." "Bob" Wolfe is the ideal in that respect. The most exalted men in the nation are his friends; likewise the humblest worker in the land. At his home you the state, so far as the personnel of guests were concerned. There were ex-governors present, two of them, and two United States senators. There were United States circuit judges, and federal district attorneys, and lawyers and doctors and preachers. Newspaper men from several cities were there, and men who made the trip half way across the continent to eat dinner with "Bob." Bankers and bank directors, big business men and little ones; men whose incomes run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, and men who have no incomes at all—gathered there at the summer home of this man, to eat a dinner that he himself prepared with his own hands.

That is his food—cooking. He is one of the best cooks in the land and enjoys it. He dons a white apron, puts on a chef's cap, rolls up his sleeves and goes to work in the kitchen for all the world like a professional. He understands the art as few of the great chefs of the world understand it. He knows how to prepare, and frequently prepares, the rarest dishes that are served.

The flood of two years and more ago gave a lot of people a pretty good idea of "Bob" Wolfe—and endeared him to everyone who happened to hear of his activities. But it wasn't printed in his papers. He doesn't allow the "boys" to make personal references to him. They do so sometimes when he is not at home, because any good newspaper man knows that he should handle a news item relating to the publisher just as he would if it related to anybody else. But when he is at home he will not allow anything printed about himself, especially if it contains a compliment. He would go out of his way to have the newspapers print an uncompromising article pertaining to himself, for he seems to enjoy that, and he doesn't enjoy having people compliment him to his face.

"Bob" Wolfe was the first man in Columbus to realize what the city was up against. Long before the waters arose to their height, he saw the situation and took it in at a glance. He knew there was going to be a flood, and that many of the people were likely to be drowned, because there were no boats in Columbus to amount to anything.

So he made a rush for Buckeye Lake, forty miles from Columbus, where there were a lot of boats stored for summer use, but very few that were then ready for the water. But he got them ready, whether they were or not, and he saved every are likely to meet men who are known all over the world, or those who are known only around the corner.

Another characteristic of this man is that he will not mix business with pleasure. That is, when he is on a pleasure trip, when he is entertaining friends, he will not talk business. Business doesn't interest him in the least under such conditions.

In olden days this unique man would have been a successful soldier. He would have been a leader of men, out in the open. He would have won empires, and established principalities. He would have divided the world with those he admired, after the struggle—and he would have come very near conquering the world. But the day is past for him as a warrior. He wouldn't last five minutes in the present war, in whatever position he might be placed. For he would want to be in front, he would try to overthrow the great cannons placed against his men, with his bare hands. He would never have dug a trench, nor otherwise sought shelter from the fire. He would have stood there in full view of the enemy, or been killed making his way to the front, regardless of the chances that he saw against him.

Nor would he be successful as a diplomat. It would take him just two seconds to settle a dispute, or fail to settle it. He would want every card placed upon a table, and without equivocation, without the soft words of diplomacy, he would play the hand out in the open, and decide at once the course to be pursued. War would be declared, or peace established, in just one minute.

Just how "Bob" Wolfe has managed to crowd so many events into his life I do not know. He is still considerably under fifty years of age. He has been everywhere and seen everything. He has had no opportunity of attending school, but has read more books than the average college professor. He had no influential friends to help him at any stage of the game.

Broad shouldered and stout, steady of mind and nerve, clear-eyed and grim of determination, there flits about his features the gentlest smiles. The storms of blustering March wedded to the zephyrs of May; the clouds of gray December tinted with the sunsets of an autumn eve; the stern aspect of the warrior mingled with the playfulness of little children—here is one man I can not so describe as to do him justice, and at the same time

It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists. Without a love for music the richest man is poor

Music is the balance wheel of the human mind. The safety valve of irresponsible, exuberant youth. The comfort of sedate maturity and old age. Shakespeare says: "The man who hath no music in his soul is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." In infancy we are lulled by a mother's crooning lullaby. All our life is more or less affected by music. It lightens our labors, soothes our sorrows and augments our pleasures. And at last when our earthly life goes out our body is laid to rest to the strains of sweet music and our soul goes to join that great celestial choir of all eternity. Some of us are gifted with musical talent to our own great pleasure and the pleasure of others. A few of us, a very few, become great artists capable of stirring the very souls of our hearers, and of such is the great galaxy of Columbia artists. Recruited from the world's greatest and best, they have produced for you a wonderful collection of recordings, both vocal and instrumental, that bring to your home a record for your every mood. Grand opera, great overtures, the piano playing of Josef Hofmann, or the violin art of Ysaye. Dance music or ragtime of brass bands or something for a laugh. It's all at its best on Columbia double disc records played on a Columbia Grafonola. And remember that Columbia records will play on your machine even if it is not a Columbia Grafonola.

"MOTHER" PIERCE IS RENDERING SPLENDID SERVICE

Mrs. Marietta Pierce, "Mother Pierce", as she is lovingly called by all the girls whom she mothers in the Y. W. C. A. Home, came to the Newark Association soon after its organization, to be the house mother and lunch room director.

Mrs. Pierce brings to the work here a knowledge of home-making and girl-life, gained from her own personal experiences as wife and mother. Broad in her sympathies, possessing an inexhaustible fund of good humor and cheerfulness, untiring in her efforts to make the home a real one for the young business girls away from home, and most conscientious in the use of the funds necessary in the management of the household affairs. Mrs. Pierce is rendering a beautiful service to the girlhood of Newark.

MRS. MARIETTA PIERCE,
House Secretary Y. W. C. A.

Naturally domestic, she creates an ideal home atmosphere seldom found in institutional life. That pervades not only the home of Fourth street, but permeates to the very limits of our membership. No hour of the day is more enjoyed by the girls than that hour following Vespers when they come, some with tating some with crocheting, some with sewing, some to read, to the office transformed nightly to a living room. One cold night last winter while a group of girls were gathered about Mrs. Pierce, each working upon a bit of handwork, which she had taught her to do, one of them said, "Mother Pierce you would not have found me sitting here crocheting like this last year at this time, would you? Even the most indifferent girl soon becomes inspired to do something with her hands, and many learn to do most beautiful work, under her teaching.

The dozens of business girls and women that come daily to the lunch room, will testify to her ability to provide the good things that they like to eat and likewise to minister to the many other needs. Sometimes it is a cheerful word or smile that they are most in need of and sometimes it is a stranger who needs direction about the city. All receive the same courteous attention. Next week will be Y. W. C. A. week in Newark. Let everybody help!

Correcting Hair Faults And Other Aids to Beauty

Dandruff, itchy scalp, thin, scraggly and falling hair are easily overcome if one will give the hair the proper attention and the proper means are employed. The first step in correcting hair faults is to have a perfectly clean scalp, free from all grease, dirt and excess oil, then the liberal application of a good tonic every night for a few weeks will produce results that will be astonishing. To free the scalp of excess oil, dandruff and dirt, there is nothing that equals a teaspoonful of equal dissolved in a cup of hot water and used as a shampoo wash. This should be used every two weeks.

No better hair tonic can be made than the simple mixture of half a pint alcohol, half a pint water and one ounce of beta-quinol; this should be massaged into the scalp nightly. A few weeks of this treatment and all hair troubles should vanish.

Blackheads should never be pinched out. It only makes large pores and does not get rid of the blackheads. The only safe and sure way is to dissolve them. Just get about two ounces of powdered mercuric from your druggist, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge or cloth, rub briskly over the blackheads and in a few minutes you will find that the blackheads have been dissolved away entirely and the skin left without any mark whatever.

Women who have rough, red hands and arms will be surprised to see how exquisite if a skin will become after a few applications of a cream lotion made by dissolving one ounce of zinc oxide in a pint of hot water, adding a tablespoonful of glycerine. (Advertisement.)

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—beal the inflamed membranes. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 54 cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in Gaiacol, and is famous for its effect on its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

This also, that I live, I consider a gift of God.—Ovid.

MISS BERGQUIST HAS TWO POSITIONS IN THE Y. W. C. A.

In this day of specialization, it is difficult to find a young woman who can do equally well, two very different pieces of work. The Y. W. C. A. is therefore extremely fortunate in securing Miss Ada Bergquist who is filling two important positions—Physical Director and Industrial Secretary.

Miss Bergquist came to the Newark Y. W. C. A. last June immediately after her graduation from the Physical Training Department of Oberlin College and is now a part of the girl-life of the Association. She at once won the loyalty of the members of the Industrial Clubs because she has been a business girl herself, and knows and understands the problems that confront these girls daily. In addition to her splendid business ability gained through thorough training, Miss Bergquist has a deep spirit of friendliness and interest in girls. She is a fine teamer, full of enthusiasm and good spirits that makes the weariest girl from factory, or shop or office, forget the monotony of doing over and over and over again one piece of work, or the inconsiderate and impatient buyer, or the books that will not balance. Or Swedish parentage, she inherits the racial love for gymnastics and athletics peculiar to the Northern peoples.

MISS ADA BERGQUIST.

With her sweet womanly dignity and keen sympathy, her gracious manner, and sense of justness, Christian character and loyalty to the Association purpose, Miss Bergquist is filling her place in the community as a real leader in the "Kingdom of Friendly Citizens."

Miss Bergquist rather hesitated when asked to take the Industrial Secretaryship, fearing that she would not like it as well as the gymnasium work—but only a few days ago she was heard to say: "I thought that I would not like industrial work, but now I just love it!" And you have only to see her with the club girls, to know that she does truly love them, and they love her, too.

Next week will be Y. W. C. A. week in Newark. Everybody is invited to help.

PLEASANT VALLEY

There will be preaching here next Sunday at the usual hour, 10:30.

Mrs. W. H. Booth returned home Saturday evening after spending a week with her brother, Peter Van Winkle, near Utra.

Mrs. Willis Priest visited at Emma Varner's last Tuesday.

Mrs. J. W. Booth and Vernice Booth spent Saturday in Newark.

The neighbors turned out last Thursday and hushed Mr. Abe Beckford's corn, he not being in very good health.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Porter, Inez and Floyd Porter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Thompson and children spent Sunday at the home of Emma Varner.

Mrs. Willis Priest accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Little to Frazeyburg Sunday to attend the funeral of C. M. Starnes.

The many friends of J. W. Porter and family, through sympathy of their leaving this community, met and surprised them at their home west of Fallburg, Friday evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Beckham, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moore, Mrs. Emma Varner, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Divan, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Booth, Mrs. Velma Booth, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Varner, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Barrick, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Porter, Miss Inez Porter, Inez Ashcraft, Blanche Conger, Madge Frampton, Edith Clark, Esther Johnson, Floe Booth, Roxie Babcock, Lovel Bodle, Elsie Meyers, May Myers, Leota Miller, Jennie Crawford, Edith Crawford, Etha Dugan, Frona Martin, Edith Booth, Bessie Bodle, Vernice Booth, Laura Moore, Anna Moore, Irene Divan, Pauline Divan, Messrs. Mrs. Emma Varner called on Mrs. H. W. Priest Monday.

Mr. Virgie Willey spent Saturday night and Sunday at the home of O. E. Booth.

The Colds of Mankind Cured by Pinex!

Have you ever gone through a typical pine forest when you had a cold? What a vigorous impulse it sent! How you opened wide your lungs to take in those invigorating and mysterious qualities. Yes, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey possesses those stimulating qualities and overcomes hacking coughs. The inner lining of the throat is strengthened in its attack against cold germs. Every family needs a bottle constantly at hand, 25c.

We have to cultivate happiness, but the seeds of discontent will grow in any soil.

For washing dishes use a teaspoonful of Gold Dust to a full dishpan of hot water.

Follow the simple directions on every package of Gold Dust

For washing dishes

This is one of the uses in which Gold Dust is supreme.

But remember that its use is not to be limited to washing dishes.

Gold Dust cleans, brightens and beautifies everything in the house.

It is safe, quick, and sure.

Millions of women have learned that it is the one washing and cleaning powder for all cleansing and purifying purposes.

It cleans floors, linoleum, kitchen utensils, bathtubs and bathroom fixtures, windows, fine woodwork, silver, plated, copper and nicked and enameled ware—

And it does not scratch or mar.

In the truest sense Gold Dust really works for you.

It penetrates corners that can not be reached with fingers or wash cloths and takes out dirt and grease. In addition to its activity as a cleaning powder, Gold Dust acts as a disinfectant.

It makes everything clean and pure. Gold Dust is the only cleaner you need. Its popularity is universal.

It is inexpensive and indispensable.

is the

BIG DAY

No, this is not a music cabinet. It is The FREE sewing machine.

On that day we will hold the biggest demonstration that this town has ever seen.

Every so often, there is brought forth in this world a revolutionizing invention. The spinning wheel, the battle axe, the hand written parchment, all gave way to an article which did the work easier and better.

The Old Style Sewing Machine Must Go!

Mr. Nelson, an expert from The FREE Sewing Machine Co., has promised to be here, and he is going to tell the women of Newark the story of that epoch-making invention that is shaking the sewing machine world to its very foundation. The FREE will supplant the old style sewing machine as surely as the rifle has replaced the battle axe.

The FREE Sewing Machine

(Invented and Patented by W. C. Free)

During the Demonstration Sale We will buy your old machine at a liberal price, apply it on the special introductory price of the FREE, and allow you to pay the small remaining difference on terms as low as $1.00 A WEEK

Every member of the Company is required to attend, unless excused from duty. By order of Mathew Bausch, Capt. commanding Co. B, Old Guard. J. W. Leidigh, Adjutant.

New Car Arrives.

Daniel Altshool today received a handsome 1916 model six cylinder Haynes automobile, the car having been purchased through the Cleveland Motor Car Sales Co., and driven through this city by J. H. Myers, district representative. It is certainly a beauty with all the latest equipment and will make travel a pleasure. Mr. Altshool was out this morning trying the auto, and states that his new possession skips over them just as easy as it does along a level concrete road. Mr. Altshool anticipates enjoying a number of lengthy tours next summer.

Announcement of Birth.

Announcement is made of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Barney Suss, of Rosebud avenue.

At Cambridge Store.

H. F. Brennan is spending a few days at the Electric Shop in Cambridge, which he has recently purchased.

Does The Work.

Frank "Dad" Thompson, a well known member of the Stage Carpenters Union, and a member of the stage crew at the Auditorium, who at present is employed at the B. & O. shops, was exhibiting a fire brick which had been dipped in a vat filled with a chemical solution, and which reduced its weight from five to one and a half pounds. It will be used in laying furnaces and is said to withstand the greatest of heat.

Pushing Work.

The National Pike paving is completed for five miles west of Cambridge and traffic to the top of Best's hill is now open. More of the road will be completed before winter sets in and the Guernsey county commissioners hope to have the entire stretch of road between Cambridge and Zanesville finished next year.

G. X. Cannon, telephone expert of the commission, made the investigations on which the commission based its tentative valuation. The companies will be allowed a chance to protest against the figures set before final valuations are ordered.

The commission today refused to order the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell Telephone company to interchange long distance service with the Hamilton Home Telephone company of Butler county. William A. Shafer, a subscriber of the Hamilton company, had asked the commission for an order, compelling interchange. The decision is considered of great importance to telephone interests of Cincinnati and southwestern Ohio.

The Northeastern Ohio Oil and Gas company today protested against the tentative valuation by the commission of the company's property. It supplies gas for Ashtabula, Conneaut and Geneva.

MEDICAL JOURNAL

Louis A. Mitchell, a student in the medical department of the University of Minnesota, and a son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Mitchell of this city, contributes to the official organ of the American Medical Association this week, an exhaustive article upon the subject "Influence of Peptone Upon Tolerance of the Body for Homogenous Ovarian Transplants." The subject indicates that the article is highly technical and recondite and is the result of original research work. It is a review of the literature of homogenous ovarian grafts, a report of the experiments upon animals to determine the effects of peptone injections, and a description of the technique employed.

ROAD READY

FOR TRAFFIC

IN FEW DAYS

Workmen are engaged this week in concreting small gaps over a number of culverts on the National Road near Brownsville. Work will now be rushed before actual winter sets in completing the "shoulders" or narrow strips on either side of the pike. These "shoulders" have been completed along the west end of the road for a distance of about ten miles.

The concreting of the National Road has been completed between Zanesville and Hebron and it makes a straight stretch of concrete road for twenty-four miles. Work on the road between Hebron and Columbus will be completed next spring. Part of it having been finished this fall. There is a small stretch of concrete, about a half mile near Brownsville which will not be open to traffic until the latter part of next week.

CONNECTION

OF GERMAN OFFICIAL WITH LOADING SUPPLY FLEET FOR GERMAN WARSHIPS

Clearing from New York Will be Alleged by this Government at Trial Next Week.

(Associated Press Telegram)

New York, Nov. 18.—An allegation that the German government appropriated $750,000 to charter and load a fleet of steamships which cleared from New York early in the war to supply German cruisers operating in South American waters will be made by the government at the trial of Karl Buer next week, according to United States District Attorney Snowden H. Marshall.

It is stated that the government will try to show that the operation of the supply ships was directed to a great extent by an official of the German government who still is in the United States.

Buer, who formerly was German consul general here and now is managing director of the Hamburg-American line, is accused of violating the customs laws and neutrality of the United States by sending out the supply ships.

Mr. Marshall says he does not intend to take up the charges of Dr. Joseph Gorlick, that diplomatic and consular representatives of the Teutonic allies are directing the work of a large number of spies in this country, until A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice has a report thereon to Secretary of State Lansing.

Mr. Bielaski returned to Washington last night without making any statement concerning his conference with Dr. Gorlick here. Dr. Gorlick expects to meet Chief Flynn of the United States secret service today and to go to Cleveland today or tomorrow.

Music

The United States Marine band gave two concerts in Newark Wednesday afternoon and evening, and those who heard either, may be assured that they heard the very best that has ever been in the city. Many years ago the famous Gilmore band played in the old armory in West Main street, and since that time Brooks, Creatore, Ferullo and other fine organizations have visited the city, and the observation that the Marine band is the best, is not intended as a reflection upon the excellence of any one of them.

But the instrumentation of the organization heard yesterday was such that the ensemble effects were obtainable just as the leader wished. Each section was just full enough to balance every other when the full band was called upon, while in the lighter passages, enough instruments could drop out of the playing to reduce the volume without deteriorating the quality of the general effect.

Lieutenant William H. Santelmann was the conductor, and his long association with the organization made it possible to bring out every shade of color, or point of contrast, by the wonderful control over the players.

They followed in spirit as well as with lip and finger every movement of his baton, so that the band under his direction became as a single instrument. His thoroughness was unmistakable. An evidence of this was noticeable in the fact that even during the most inspiring march passage, or the seductive waltz strain, not a foot tapped the accented beat. The tempo was set by the leader, his mind conceived, and his baton directed every crescendo, each acceleration, and say retard that was to be injected into the music.

The afternoon program was given at the High School auditorium, and was enjoyed thoroughly by those who attended.

The evening program at the Auditorium theatre is worthy of some mention. It was unique in conception, broad in musical scope and of historic interest.

The principal nations of Europe as well as America, contributed the composers whose compositions were heard. It was called a "Neutral" program.

The first number was the overture to "Mignon" and was an earnest demonstration of what might be expected during the rest of the evening. The Thomas music was played with an authority at once noticeable.

The wood wind throughout carried an undercurrent over which flowed the many harmonies played by other sections, ending in a grand climax that truly was inspiring.

It would delight us to dwell upon the beauties of each number but the limited space of their review does not permit.

But it should not close without mentioning the Wagner number and the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2, if for no other reason than to recall the pleasure to those who heard them.

"The Entrance of the Gods Into Valhalla," from the "Rheingold," the first of the "Nibelung Ring" series of operas, was the selection played last night.

It was a masterpiece in rendition, as it is in composition, and those who know the opera, or even its story, fully appreciated the magnificent effects secured by Lieutenant Santelmann.

The march lends itself to scoring for the immortal movement toward their abode, is prominently given by the brass, the reeds carrying on a veritable fantasy while even the tympani add to conception of an atmosphere superhuman in its intensity.

This number was most enthusiastically received, but it remained for the famous Rhapsody at Liszt to crown an evening of great musical profit.

This work is better known than were the others and during its rendition the hearers sat spellbound.
